

The Guardian

Stove Top Fire Suppression System

According to research conducted by CCFM/FC, Cooking is the leading cause of home fires and home fire injuries. Kitchens are the leading area of origin for home fires representing 22% of ignition point for a residential home.

These statistics are a glimpse into a national problem in the residential marketplace. However there has been another market that has been vastly overlooked. That's why it makes sense to distribute a pre-engineered system that offers a level of protection for residential-grade cooking appliances used in a commercial space. While these systems are not intended for use in a commercial production environment, they do offer protection for 30" or 36" range used within light applications. Some of these applications can include day care centers, religious facilities, student housing , group homes or any public assembly location where the local authority having jurisdiction (AHJ) requires or acceptance from province and local AHJs of these systems.
